GENRE AND AFFECT: INHUMAN FORCES

Special Issue Editor: Kelly Hurley
Table of Contents

Introduction 1
Genre and Affect: Inhuman Forces
Kelly Hurley, University of Colorado at Boulder kelly.hurley@colorado.edu

I. THE POLITICS OF AFFECT “Secrets of the Heart”: Emotion, Narration, and Imaginary Minds in Hard Times and North and South Jill L. Matus, University of Toronto jill.matus@utoronto.ca

The Sentimental Socialism of Margaret Harkness Rob Breton, Nipissing University robbr@nipissingu.ca

Laughing at the Last Will: Jyl of Braintford’s Testament Jill Phillips Ingram, Ohio University ingramj@ohio.edu

Educating the Emotions: Affect and Stylistic Excess in the Stalinist Melodrama Anna Toropova, University College London a.toropova@ucl.ac.uk

II. MOURNING, MELANCHOLIA, TRAUMA
Confronting Genre: Opera, Memorial, and John Greyson’s Fig Trees Sarah Henstra, Ryerson University shenstra@english.ryerson.ca

Frankenstein’s Melancholy
Andrew Smith, University of Glamorgan asmith5@glam.ac.uk

Who Set You Feelin’? Harlem, Communal Affect, and the Great Migration Narrative in James Baldwin’s “Sonny’s Blues” John Claborn, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign claborn@illinois.edu Gothic Oklahoma!: The Dream Ballet Steven Bruhm, The University of Western Ontario sbruhm2@uwo.ca

III. THE IMPLOSION OF GENRE
The Aesthetics of Affect in the Shot-by-Shot Remakes of Psycho and Funny Games Steffen Hantke, Sogang University steffenhantke@hotmail.com

Pity: Reflections on Algernon Blackwood’s Gothic David Punter, University of Bristol
David.Punter@bristol.ac.uk

The Weariness of the Victorian Novel: Middlemarch and the Medium of Feeling Alicia Christoff, Princeton University achristo@princeton.edu

“This number is the nadir of passion”: Steven Soderbergh’s The Girlfriend Experience Michael Sayeau, University College London m.sayeau@ucl.ac.uk

IV. HYPER-AFFECT
Hyper-reality and the Gothic Affect: The Sublimation of Fear from Burke and Walpole to The Ring Jerrold E. Hogle, University of Arizona hogle@email.arizona.edu

a-ffect-less: zombie-horror-shock Fred Botting, Lancaster University f.botting@lancaster.ac.uk

Contributors
191